

Jeffrey Kass elected to new three year term at the St. Louis Enterprise Centers

Gallop partner Jeffrey Kass has been elected to a new three year term to the board of directors of the St. Louis Enterprise Centers, a project of the St. Louis Economic Council.

As a nationally recognized leader in small business incubation, St. Louis Enterprise Centers provide entrepreneurs with affordable office and warehouse space, shared support services, access to expert mentors, professional seminars, and valuable networking opportunities.

The Enterprise Centers include four state-of-the-art facilities in St. Louis City, South St. Louis County, Wellston and West St. Louis County.

Home to nearly 60 client companies, the Enterprise Centers are strategically located throughout the region and offer a variety of options designed to accommodate a broad range of business needs such as office, warehouse, kitchen, light manufacturing, distribution, and laboratory spaces. Each center also is equipped with specific use and multi-functional space.
